

What We Provide

Technical Resource Group (TRG), a Pipeline Group company, is a leading provider of Information Technology (IT) expert resources for projects of all sizes and difficulties. We offer flexible project resource solutions to organizations that require technical expertise on demand. Projects range from complex e-business and web development initiatives to enterprise wide application development and technical system support. The technology professionals we deploy, on either a contract, contract-to-hire or full-time basis, include software developers, project managers, SAP specialists, and database specialists including Pick, MultiValue and U2. We create tremendous value for our customers through our unique combination of resident expertise, best-of-breed recruiting practices and highly talented resource professionals. We focus in providing highly qualified IT professionals at a reasonable cost to our customers that require technical expertise "on demand".

Expertise

We have available a group of professional, high technology consultants with expertise in the following areas:

- Application Software Development
 - J2EE
 - Oracle
 - .NET
 - Pick/Multivalue/U2
- SAP
- Technical Support
 - Pick/MultiValue/U2
- Internet/Intranet Development
- Database Management
- Project Management
- Document Management Implementations
- Process Improvement Projects

Benefits

The benefit of using TRG to provide you with the IT resources you require is as follows:

- Our quick response to your resource request
- Our multi-discipline technical screening by our full-time employees
- We meet necessary insurance requirements
- We are an IT expert company and NOT a Staffing Company – we understand the business processes you need to automate and the technologies that enable them!
- We deliver the right resources right at the time you need them – On Demand
- We have excellent Project/Resource Management – we stay involved during the project
- Resident expertise in all of facets of IT
- Full-service approach

Company Overview

TRG, a Pipeline Group company, has provided professional services for over 12 years. We have customers throughout the United States ranging from the very large to the very small. We focus on contract resource augmentation in conjunction with our project consulting with our in-house employees. We have a solid reputation in developing complex applications and helping companies with enterprise integration and other IT projects. Our full-service approach, extensive knowledge of the technology marketplace and experienced resource consultants allows us to respond to your special needs & requirements promptly.

Contact us at 949-296-8380, www.picktrg.com or email us at asktrg@picktrg.com.